Acceptance Criterion .24
Central Admission

Applications are submitted through the Ministry of Higher Education based on students' high school grades.	•
Admission is determined by competitive averages and the number of available seats in the department.	•
Admission results are announced through the ministry's official online portal.	•
Direct Admission
Applies to certain categories such as high-achieving students, individuals with special needs, and children of faculty members under specific regulations.	•
Applications are submitted directly to the university or college after meeting the required conditions.	•
Parallel Admission (Self-Financed)
Allows students with lower grades to apply in exchange for a specific tuition fee.	•
Students follow the same curriculum and examinations as those admitted through central admission.	•
Evening Admission
Designed for employees and students who wish to study outside regular working hours.	•
Requires tuition fees, and admission grade requirements are lower than those of morning programs.	•

The most important sources of information about the program	.25
Official University Documents
Academic program guides issued by the university and college.	•
The approved study plan from the academic department.	•
Higher education regulations and policies related to the program.	•

Program Development Plan	.26
Academic Program Development in the Department of English Language and Literature
1. Curriculum Development
Updating courses to include the latest theories and approaches in linguistics, literature, and translation.	•

Introducing new courses in discourse analysis, artificial intelligence in languages, and postmodern literature.	•
Focusing on academic and professional communication skills to enhance graduates' employability.	•
2. Enhancing Language and Practical Skills
Integrating technology into teaching through interactive applications and digital platforms.	•
Implementing conversational and discussion activities in English inside and outside the classroom.	•
Offering workshops and intensive courses in simultaneous and written translation.	•
3. Improving Teaching and Assessment Methods
Adopting modern teaching methods such as project-based learning and collaborative learning.	•
Updating assessment techniques to include interactive exams, presentations, and research projects.	•
Implementing a continuous assessment system to monitor students' skill development regularly.	•
4. Promoting Scientific Research and Academic Engagement
Encouraging students and faculty to publish in peer-reviewed academic journals.	•
Organizing conferences and academic seminars to discuss contemporary linguistic and literary issues.	•
Supporting graduation research projects that focus on language applications in society and the job market.	•
5. Establishing Academic and Professional Partnerships
Forming agreements with international universities and institutions for student and faculty exchange programs.	•
Providing internship opportunities for students in translation, media, and education institutions.	•
Strengthening collaboration with embassies and cultural centers to organize linguistic and cultural activities.	•
6. Enhancing Infrastructure and Academic Support
Upgrading the digital and physical library with up-to-date resources in language, literature, and translation.	•
Equipping language labs with specialized software for pronunciation and translation.	•
Providing academic support and guidance for students through language consultation centers.	•
Implementation and Follow-up

- Establishing a committee to oversee the implementation of the plan and periodically evaluate its impact.
- Involving students in the evaluation and development process through surveys and interviews.
- Submitting annual reports on goal achievement and updating the plan based on feedback.
